NATALIA WRÓBEL - AVAILABLE ARTWORK

Natalia Wróbel (b.1989) is a Polish-American artist born and raised in San Diego, CA. She received her BFA in Studio Art and Art History from Dartmouth College followed by an Independent Atelier at the New York Studio School (NYSS). In 2017, Wrobel completed a painting residency at the Berlin Art Institute. Her work has been featured at art fairs including Volta Basel: Switzerland with Abigail Ogilvy Gallery, Art Basel: Miami, Texas Contemporary, and Art Southampton and has been an official selection at the Museum of Fine Arts Boston and MassArt Auction. Her paintings have been featured in publications in the US and Europe ranging from spiritual texts, literary theory, scientific journals and poetry, as well as in computer science coursework at The Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT), and are included in public and private collections around the world. Travel and her multi-cultural upbringing inspire her work; she spent her childhood summers in Warsaw, Poland and has lived in Amsterdam, Berlin, Santa Fe (NM), Boston (MA), Encinitas (CA), and New York City. She currently lives and works in San Sebastián, Pais Vasco, Spain.
