Press release

Over the past five years, Bricks Gallery has grown into an engaging platform for contemporary art in the heart of Copenhagen. Through a range of exhibitions and an expanding gallery space, we've aimed to create a place where art brings people together—whether through intimate openings, artist talks, or dynamic group exhibitions.

In celebration of our five-year anniversary, we are presenting selected works by the gallery's represented and collaborating artists. Spanning the entire gallery, this exhibition presents works across various mediums, inviting viewers to explore the distinctive voices that have shaped Bricks Gallery over the years, with each piece contributing to a broader conversation.

In an unpredictable world, we remain committed to the belief that art plays an essential role in society. This commitment drives us to support our artists and to share their voices beyond our walls. BUILDING BRICKS - Celebrating 5 years honors all who have been part of this journey—artists, collectors, friends, and colleagues who continue to shape and inspire Bricks Gallery.

With gratitude,
Morten Halborg-Møller

Founded in 2011 as a project focused on graphic art, Limited Works marked Morten Halborg-Møller's entry into the gallery world. In 2019, this led to the creation of Bricks Gallery, which opened at Blågårdsgade 11B, the former home of the artist group Superflex.

Bricks quickly developed a collaborative atmosphere, with studios and gallery spaces side by side. Since then, it has expanded and undergone multiple renovations to provide more space and a welcoming setting for exhibitions and visitors.

Today, Bricks Gallery represents a selection of emerging and established artists, hosting solo and group exhibitions and participating in art fairs.
