FEDORA AKIMOVA&NBSP;

Fedora Akimova studied for a theater artist at the Academy of Arts, graduated from MMOMA Free Workshops and now creates hypnotic landscapes and tender objects with embroidery elements. "It is important for me that things speak for themselves, as in the theater scenography. And I like the sound of embroidery, because embroidery as a medium has a strong emotional background. I'm starting to introduce animal figures into the objects. I have a special relationship with animals, I started embroidery with animals, now I have their toy figures. This topic does not leave me. Because this is evolution: man is also actually an animal in part. It is necessary to remember this in a good way.. "
